Do you have these challenges?

Increasingly complex regulatory environment and funding rules

Software mostly designed for traditional academic offerings

Long and error-prone process results in increased compliance risks

Current process costly due to significant manual calculations

Insufficient leverage of all available public and private funding sources

Student satisfaction and outcomes suffering from finance complexity

One of the most common challenges facing institutions, like yours, is keeping up with all of the federal regulations and ensuring compliance. Institutions are working with limited resources to ensure compliance and meeting the needs of students. Oracle Student Financial Planning was designed with these concerns in mind.

Transforming Financial Aid

SFP allows institutions to transform Financial Aid from a back office focus to a strategic capability that changes the way Financial Aid staff and administrators operate within the institution to better meet student needs.
